Roosevelt Menace in Pennsylvania Has Bearing on Stock Market, Despite Strong Trading.

By THOMAS C. SHOTWELL.

New York, April 13.—Trading in the stock market today was important more on account of the improvement in tone at the close than the improvement of prices. The market in conditions to do no more than to hold the improvement of the Roosevelt menace in Pennsylvania, but the big people took all Roosevelt calmly, believing that even a Roosevelt victory had been discounted. The close, therefore, was not with a possibility of doing violently better in Monday.

Excitement in grain was not thought to have an important bearing on the stock market. Wheat has for months been far lower than it should have been in view of last year's crop failure. It has been far under its proper parity with corn. The rise in wheat does not prove anything regarding the crop for the spring has been so late that the April crop report was worse than useless. The real experts who are in the fields say that it is not fair to express an opinion of the winter wheat crop yet. All agree that the ground is in splendid condition. American corn farmers touched high record prices at the close. Canadian Pacific after early weakness, recovered. The steel shares and leading railroad issues were firm and showed small net gains. The bank statement was favorable, but there is so much money and credit that the money question is not of burning interest just now in the stock market.
